STORY

August the 1st.

The heroine regains her consciousness in an unfamiliar cafe. She has lost all her memory prior to that day. Where is this place, what was she doing there, who is she, and how was her life like before?

A boy called Orion appears before the bewildered heroine and introduces himself as "spirit". With his help, the heroine behaves carefully so that others won't notice her amnesia.

Relationships with people around her slowly emerge.

She meets her "childhood friends", "school seniors" and "boyfriend" although she doesn't even know their names or faces. She feels their emotions strongly but is unable to respond to them without memory. Splinters of memory come back occasionally, but suddenly a crisis strikes.

The story engulfs her as it develops and intertwines.

What is the "answer" that awaits her when she regains her memory?
